Emergency Medical Services and Nursing students train for the real world at SWOCC

Southwestern’s Coos Bay campus was the scene of an intense rescue and evacuation event – simulated of course!

On February 13, 2015, a joint training exercise was conducted involving our Paramedic and Nursing students. The training involved pre-hospital and in-hospital care of live and simulated patients. Several community agencies participated including Coos Bay Fire and Rescue, Coquille Fire and Rescue, Lower Umpqua Ambulance, and REACH Air Medical Services.

Our team conducted a simulated motor vehicle accident that required heavy extrication. A “patient” from this incident required air transport to the hospital and REACH provided an Augusta 109 helicopter to participate in the air operations portions. A ground ambulance crew transported other patients to a simulated hospital on campus, where nursing students interacted with paramedics and physicians. Present from Bay Area Hospital were Dr. James Woods and Dr. Wendy Haack who assisted in the training and created a realistic environment for the simulation. Amy Baxter, RN from Bay Area Hospital Emergency Department was also involved providing training and technical support. Students benefit greatly by interacting with community agencies, physicians, nurses and other allied health care workers to obtain an appreciation for the health care system and their roles within it.

Note: Academic calendar subject to change.
NEW STUDENTS:

1. File a FAFSA – Students who wish to receive Federal Financial Aid should apply at www.fafsa.ed.gov. It can take up to three months to process. Apply early!

What is Digital Design?

Take the artistic creativity of design and integrate it with advanced software skills and you have Digital Design.

Our contemporary world is infused with digital graphics and multimedia. From websites to video games, digital design is integral to the modern economy. Our new Digital Design Pathway prepares students for careers in a range of emerging creative disciplines.

Southwestern’s Associate of Applied Science CIS in Digital Design is a groundbreaking program delivered entirely online. The curriculum prepares students for entry-level jobs in high-tech creative fields, including: graphic design, web design, digital imaging, 3D computer animation, and video game development.

The Digital Design degree offers an assortment of classes to expose students to art fundamentals, digital graphics, photography, programming, 3D modeling, animation, and other digital media specialties. Much of the coursework is hands-on, allowing students to explore design principles and technical strategies in an applied context. Students learn industry standard software, including the Adobe Creative Cloud and Autodesk Maya.

Upon successful completion of the program, students will have compiled a professional portfolio, prepared for industry certification exams, and developed the knowledge and skills required for entry-level positions in creative and support professions.

Contact our Advising Office at 541-888-7405 for more information. www.socc.edu/digitaldesign

Joseph Tremonti
Associate Professor of Digital Design

Joseph Tremonti is a new media artist and digital designer with a background in 3D computer graphics. Passionate about both art and technology, Joseph completed a Bachelor of Fine Arts in 3D Computer Animation, and pursued graduate studies at University of Illinois at Chicago’s Electronic Visualization Laboratory (EVL). While studying at EVL, he conducted research in the field of immersive computer graphics. Working with cutting-edge visualization technologies, including the CAVE, Joseph developed tools and technologies to enhance the user experience in virtual environments. His work was exhibited at venues, including the Ars Electronica Center (Linz, Austria), NTT InterCommunication Center (Tokyo, Japan), and the Museum of Contemporary Art (Chicago). After graduate school, Joseph helped to develop one of the top digital media curriculums in the University of Hawaii system. Joseph joined Southwestern in 2014.

Distance Learning

For more information on class times, fees and other questions, contact the Distance Learning Office at (541) 888-7345, (800) 962-2838 Ext. 7345 or a Curry County Campus.

Online: Course offerings are provided over the Internet using the eLearning Learning Management System with instructors at SWOCC. Tests are either online or proctored at designated sites. Please contact your instructor for testing details.

eLearning is the Web-based software designed to deliver online learning. eLearning has a variety of teaching and learning tools totally online. You can find eLearning when you login to myLakerLink and look about halfway down the left side.

myLakerLink is your student registration system. To register for or drop courses, use myLakerLink. See page 2 for more information.

Textbooks: If you are taking an online course taught by a Southwestern instructor, visit the SWOCC Bookstore in Stensland Hall on the Coos Bay campus or go online at www.socc.edu/bookstore. For more information call 541-888-7264, (800) 962-2838 Ext. 7264. Students in Curry County can order books online or at their local center.

Assistant
1) Visit our web site www.socc.edu/distance.
2) Contact the Distance Education department (541) 888-7345 or (800) 962-2838 Ext. 7345 for information about our no cost “Introduction to Online Learning” class.
3) An online student information booklet is located at www.socc.edu/distance/ under Student Resources.
Here’s a pro tip: Oregon State University Ecampus gives you the ability to study online and work toward an OSU degree while you’re enrolled in community college. That’s multitasking at its finest. It’s also online education at its finest – Ecampus is a nationally ranked provider of online education. You can start in any season, so apply today. Summer term starts June 15.

Building Oregon’s best businesses in Coos, Curry and Western Douglas Counties:

- Free one-on-one business advising
- Affordable training
- Business planning assistance
- Market research
- “GrowthWheel” business tool
- Financial analysis
- Referral services
- Valuable, timely information

The Southwestern Small Business Development Center (SBDC) provides practical information and services for your business success. We focus on assisting with the retention and expansion of established businesses on the South Coast. Additionally, we provide specialty services to both rapid growth businesses and start-ups. We are here to help you make your business a continuing success.

BUSINESS WORKSHOPS

Check out and register for upcoming training opportunities either online or local by going to:
www.bizcenter.org or www.socc.edu/sbdc

The Small Business Development Center Network offers many workshops on pertinent business topics, designed to sharpen your management skills. This is practical, results-oriented training that you can put to immediate use. Prices vary depending on format and sponsorships.
A Ready, Set, Start Your Business workshop is offered weekly in North Bend for those interested in learning more about going into business. The cost of this 2-hour training is only $20.

SKILLS TO PROSPER:

The SWOCC SBDC is offering a 10-session small business management training that includes 1 monthly workshop and specialized business advising. Skills to Prosper will begin in August 2015 and run through June 2016. The classroom training covers all aspects of operating a successful small business. Participants create a work plan that includes the issues they would like to improve in their business at the beginning of the training then work on creating solutions for those issues throughout the course. To access this program contact the Small Business Development Center at 541-756-6866 or email: mloiselle@socc.edu.

BUSINESS ADVISING & ASSISTANCE

Both existing business owners and those considering starting a business in Coos, Curry, and Western Douglas counties can access confidential business advising at no charge. Advising is tailored to your individual needs and is provided by business advisors (in English as well as in Spanish) on a wide variety of issues including marketing/sales, financing sources, record keeping/accounting, business planning, licensing, pricing, financial analysis and much more.

Call 541-756-6866 (North Bend) or go to www.bizcenter.org for more information or to arrange an appointment.

e-sbdc – A BUSINESS WEBSITE

Zap into the e-sbdc website for business information that is useful no matter what stage of business you are in. Use Oregon’s online tool for small business, the e-sbdc, to search by one of five categories (Thinking, Launching, Growing, Reinventing, or Exiting) or search by topic. You will have choices of resources, online training, registering for an advising appointment and information about upcoming events. www.BizCenter.org offers you a multitude of resources that are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Access and use them any place and anytime.
